

Exminster: Hare Stix

THE TRAIL

We pulled in to the car park to see Knickerless and Zoro, at least we were at the right place! Lovely to see Bigfoot, Shorty and Twiggy again!

Now I have to say I never really enjoyed my geography trips at school, you know your, "friends" trying to feed you rabbit poo pretending its raisins... no... just me then! But this... well... what an education...

Firstly Stix should have taught me in maths because at least I could blame him for my grade!!!! 25% on road!!! Is he having a laugh????? More like 70%..... Anyway..... We started on a long short split whoopsie going the short route because "its probably just a big loop and they will be here in a minute.."or will they?

We ran through the town before going off road Whoopsie started to grumble "bloody shorts! I only wore these because I wanted to show off my tan!"

The brambles were a bit vicious! We came out to the A road which we ran along. Spocky at this time was taking a step on to what he thought was hard ground but was a well camouflaged bog which seemed bottomless! he has a fight with a huge bramble and lost! bell toll almost ran past but came to his rescue in the end....why ? Do I hear some of you say.....

I have never felt uncomfortable on a hash before but hanging around under that bridge was quite disturbing... piles of toilet roll....

Burnt out bits of car... a very strange smell... we made a swift exit.

Making our way through undergrowth which stix assured me was not this overgrown the last time he recced this trail.... A few months ago!!!! Its rained a few times since then stix!!!!!!!

Passing a random number plate of a car, a CD and other oddities. We then came out on the main road and crossed very gingerly," I don't like crossing the road when cars are coming the other way" says Whoopsie.....um yes....

We climbed up a hill into a field, a steep, cow pat filled field. When we reached the top the sweetie stop was in the field of mad cows! That was interesting! The sweets were lush!! Really good choice Stix! Unfortunately they were so sugary that we all were getting high! whoopsie hiding behind a tree away from the cows, wide receiver trying to remove some bodily fluid from his nasal passages in a snot like fashion realised that it had landed on his arm yum! then we would stop in the middle of thus field for more sugar.....we first came to a mushroom that was the size of Bigfoot's foot! That is an edible mushroom said a wise Damp Patch but I wouldn't eat it, its filled with maggots,.....so its not really edible then is itThen a kestrel which has OBVIOUSLY crashed into the overhead electricity lines....we hashers are so wise...

Over a style into a corn field we were running well until a small gaggle of hashers stopped to look a rabbit. As I went up to this rabbit you could see it wasn't well (mixama something)

Wide Receiver thought he would be the one to put it out of its misery by stepping on it! (unknown to him) but don't worry animal lovers the rabbit ran off... I am sure to live a long life....cough cough...

On the home stretch, bell toll was chatting up the locals. We all ran well especially after the sweets. or it might have been the fact it was getting dark and nobody had their torches!

DOWN DOWNS

Went to...

The Hare - Stix

Spocky - bleeding everywhere

Whoopsie - for vanity

Wide Receiver - snorting on his own arm and

RSPC- ay?

Zoro - visitor

And last but never least.....

Pussin Bootless - for 100 runs well done !!

ON DOWN

Was hosted by Stix at the palace of Stix, what a fab spread! Food was great, especially the rati from Shorty! Garlic!! company was even better and the cakes WOW! but the best had to be the OHP! Spocky is now in love!! but he's not having one!

On On

X Bitz

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

What a choice I think the winner has to be.....Whoopsie

" I don't like crossing the road when cars are coming....."

NEXT WEEK'S HASH

Lawrence Castle CP, Haldon (SX 876 859)

On Down: Seven Stars, Kennford

Hares: Arfanar and Poacher